

Your Meeting with a College Soccer Coach

When you enter your senior year in high school, you may have a chance to speak with a college coach who calls, stops by, or sees you during a visit to the coach's college or university. When the coach takes time to talk to you and to introduce the school, program, and playing opportunity, you have the chance to ask questions that will help you make your decision, and, at the same time, help you and the coach decide if the school and playing opportunity is a good match for your interests and for the team needs. If it turns out that there is a good match, your having asked these questions will help the coach feel confident that you are serious about the opportunity.

About the College

About the Coach's Needs for the Soccer Team

How many seniors are graduating?

Are there red shirt players returning?

Where would I play in the team?

How much playing time should I expect as a freshman?

How many other players are playing that position?

Are you recruiting other players for that position? Have you committed to any?

How to Go Forward

Where am I on your board now?

Have you seen me play?

Which tournaments will you be attending? (appropriate before January)

Do you have our team's schedule for this fall? (appropriate in the Fall)

Have you talked with my coaches?

Do you have a copy of my playing resume and references?

What's the next step? What should I do ? Do you see me as a serious possibility?

After this last question, let silence work for you. Listen carefully and let the coach explain fully.
